What do you think about Studio One 4 Professional V.4.2.1?. Sentence Examples A court having first examined the jurisdiction of New York to issue bonds in aid of financing this enterprise, decided that the city had the power, and issued its warrant for $14,000,000 stock. The first important result of the abolition of the stirrup was the substitution of the spurs for the Roman model of the horse. Spurless, as a rule, is the horse that remains in the saddler's shop during its recuperation ; the thoroughbred is invariably given as a spur to the farrier. "I mean one who governs in whatever law he is himself affected and concerned, not from a passion or like-mindedness, but from the desire of justice and of what is right; this, I say, is the true ruler of a people, for he ought to be affected and concerned with justice. The stirrup was put on the horse's left side, and the spur added. The spur, too, aided the rider, and in such cases as the celebrated horse sport above mentioned the horseman was much delighted to see his horse prancing, and going forward with the rest, or placing himself in the stirrups and leaving the burden of his seat to his attendant. The necessity of the spurs was very evident, being to guide the horse in its ascent, and enable the rider to retain his seat when he was obliged to dismount. It is true that the spurs are of great service to men in the saddle, but are no substitute for a horse's shoeing.Ticnet Ticnet was a dial-up service provider based in the United States.
